Spring 2019

OBJECTIVES, OVERVIEW, AND COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This advanced course for students in the Executive Master program will examine how leaders formulate coherent and effective strategies for policy-making in a complex and unpredictable environment. Readings and discussions will concentrate on planning, organization, persuasion, and adaptation to changing local, national, and international pressures. The course will focus on case studies in leadership, as well as broader studies of strategic decision-making in the modern world. Students should gain a greater appreciation for what it means to be an effective strategist, policy-maker, and agenda-setter. They should also acquire a certain humility about the difficulties involved with fulfilling these often inhuman tasks.

STUDENT COURSEWORK RESPONSIBILITIES

Reading Assignments:

This course includes a significant, but reasonable reading assignment each week (usually between 150 and 300 pages.) Students are expected to read all of the assigned materials carefully and critically before each seminar meeting. Focus on each author's key arguments and how they relate to larger concerns and debates – how is the author trying to change the way we think about strategy, leadership and decision-making? Interrogate narrative strategies – how does the author assemble his or her argument for the purpose of convincing the reader? Pay close attention to sources – how does the author “prove” his or her point? Most important, as the semester progresses think about how the assigned readings relate to one another – how is each author responding to other leaders and observers?

Assigned Readings for Purchase by Students:

Addams, Jane. Twenty Years at Hull-House.

Clausewitz, Carl von. On War, edited and translated by Michael Howard and Peter Paret (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1976). Be sure to buy this exact version!

Leuchtenburg, William. Herbert Hoover.

Machiavelli, Niccolo. The Prince.

McPherson, James. Tried by War.

Packer, George. The Unwinding: An Inner History of the New America.

Sandberg, Sheryl. Lean In: Women, Work, and the Will to Lead

Suri, Jeremi. The Impossible Presidency: The Rise and Fall of America's Highest Office.

Weekly Response Essays:

Each week by 9:AM on the Thursday before class, all students should post a short response essay on the course website (available through UT's Canvas Course Management Website): <http://canvas.utexas.edu/>.

This response essay should include 3 basic paragraphs. The first paragraph should summarize the key arguments in the readings and their significance. The second paragraph should analyze how the week's readings relate to other course topics and course discussions. The third paragraph should offer the student's critical assessment of the week's readings: What was most persuasive? What was least persuasive? Which are the issues and questions that need more attention? What kind of new activities do the readings inspire?

Students are expected to read each other's weekly essays before class. They are also expected to comment substantively on each other's essays. The weekly essays and comments will provide a starting point for each week's class discussion.

Final Project: Group Strategy Briefings

The purpose of this course is to prepare students to become strategic planners, ready to advise and lead large global organizations. This difficult task requires analytical sophistication, historical knowledge, and current awareness. It calls for effective team-work and persuasion of principals.

With this core purpose in mind, students will be responsible at the end of the semester for preparing a strategy briefing on the future of American national economic and security policy. Here are the guidelines:

1. Students will work in teams of 5 or 6, arranged by the middle of the semester.
2. Each team will prepare a strictly 15-minute presentation.
3. The presentation will address the next president of the United States.

4. The presentation will answer the following questions:
 - a. What are the strategic priorities for American prosperity during the next 4 years?
 - b. How can the president bring a deeply divided country together and encourage more cooperation and respect across various divisions?
 - c. How can the president improve living standards, broadly defined, for the majority of Americans?
 - d. How can the president help Americans to feel more secure, confident, and optimistic?
 - e. What can the president realistically expect to achieve in the course of four years?

5. The teams will present their briefings in class during the last seminar meeting.

6. Based on the presentations and feedback, each team will submit a final 15-page written briefing by Friday, May 3 at 5:pm. Please submit final written briefings by email to: suri@austin.utexas.edu

The policy briefings will be judged by the following criteria:

1. Professionalism.
2. Attention to the requirements and demands of the assignment.
3. Quality of information.
4. Accuracy.
5. Coherence.
6. Analytical insight.
7. Usefulness.
8. Strategic wisdom.
9. Creativity.
10. Strategic Leadership.

STUDENT EVALUATION:

Weekly Response Essays and Comments	30%
Weekly Class Discussion Participation	35%
Final Project	35%

EMAIL POLICY:

Students are welcome to email the instructor at any time. I will try to respond as soon as possible, but I sometimes require a few days to answer each email.

IMPORTANT NOTE ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

Students are expected to respect the LBJ School's standards regarding academic dishonesty. You owe it to yourself, your fellow students, and the institution to maintain the highest standards of integrity and ethical behavior. A discussion of academic integrity, including definitions of plagiarism and unauthorized collaboration, as well as helpful information on citations, note taking, and paraphrasing, can be found at the web page of the Office of the Dean of Students (http://deanofstudents.utexas.edu/sjs/acint_student.php) and the Office of Graduate Studies (<http://www.utexas.edu/ogs/ethics/transcripts/academic.html>). The University has also established disciplinary procedures and penalty guidelines for academic dishonesty, especially Sec. 11.304 in Appendix C of the Institutional Rules on Student Services and Activities section in UT's General Information Catalog.
